EXTENSIVE EXPERIENCE

Sherwin-Williams Coil Coatings, an industry leader in coil coatings for the metal residential and commercial roofing markets, combines the technology from EagleView and Keymark under the Roofing Passport – a web-based platform.

EagleView is a report, measurement and imagery company that is the number-one provider of aerial property measurements. The company flies across North America to capture aerial images of homes, which are used to provide raw data of roof measurements and roof pitch with incredible accuracy.

SmartBuild from Keymark is an application software that stores data on entire manufacturer catalogues of roofing profiles, including sheathing, trim parts, coating colors, ancillary materials, labor and pricing. SmartBuild takes the raw data from EagleView to populate roof measurements and accurately estimate material and labor costs.

Together, Sherwin-Williams Coil Coatings, EagleView and SmartBuild are simplifying the metal roofing market.
